Do you Recognize these Scenes from Around Ohio?

Hello! Hope you're enjoying the summer!

That's just what our Secret Shopper has been doing! She recently visited Log Cabin Comforts in Englewood. I know she enjoys her visits to the shops and loves setting the table to tempt you to visit too. Make sure you put Log Cabin Comforts and other shops that you haven't visited on your list along with your favorites. Sometimes the newbies are the best. And please tell them that you saw their ad in the Country Register and thank them for supporting us.

This issue also includes our Annual Shoppers Guide on pages 4 & 5. This guide will tell you which shops feature various items and what page you can find their ads on. It's an easy way to find what you're looking for in a hurry. It's a great guide to refer back to throughout the year.

If your family is as busy as mine, you're looking for quick and easy meals. We've included some great recipes in this issue that will help make your meals fun & easy this summer. If you have a recipe you'd like us to share, just email it to me at ohiocountryregister.com and we'll include it sometime. We always welcome your input.

Have a great summer!! Be safe out there!

The Country Register Story

The Country Register began in Arizona in the fall of 1988 to provide effective and affordable advertising for shops, shows and other experiences enjoyed by a kindred of readership. Since then, the paper has spread to many other areas, all of which are listed below. Look for the paper in your travels. To receive a sample paper from another area, mail $3 in the USA or $4 in Canada to that area's editor. Advertising rates are available upon request. The Country Register is available at the shops that advertise and often at other unique locations. We hope you enjoy this bi-monthly publication and let the advertisers know. For additional information, visit www.countryregister.com.

Charming Quilt Shop Hop

This marks the 11th year for the Charming Quilt Shop Tour in Northeastern Ohio. You won't want to miss this year's event, which will be held August 4-13. Twelve shops are participating in this year's week-long event. To see a list of the shops, check their ad on page 18 of this issue. Also, check out their FB page for more information.

If you know of a shop that doesn't advertise with us, drop a hint with them that they should or give us their contact information

Barbershop Quartet

On Thursday, Jul 14, 2022, join Lock 4, a barbershop quartet with a combined experience of over 100 years singing their music, one of the few truly American art forms. They will perform a mix of classic barbershop, gospel tunes, novelty numbers, patriotic songs, holiday pieces and more. Their quartet is named after a lock in the Ohio and Erie Canal. The name also has a barbershop connection, since a hallmark of the style is the exciting "lock and ring" of the sound. The concert will be held at 1015 Edison St. NW, Hartville, Ohio. Call 330-877-9222 for more information.

Countryberries Designs

Uncle Sam

This pattern is free for you to use. Please give the artist credit. Not for commercial use. Enlarge this pattern to your desired size. Paint on wood. The original piece was designed to fit on a board about 4 feet tall, but it can also be made much smaller. The hat brim is cut from a separate piece of wood. The purchased flags are inserted into holes drilled into the sides of the hat. You can also applique in wool or cotton and embroider the details. You can do punch-needle or rug hooking techniques too. Whatever craft you choose, have fun! Designed by Kathy Graham

Happy Birthday, America

by Becky Van Vleet

Every Fourth of July, I look forward to celebrating our great nation's birthday. Let's see. This year will be 246 years. I will hang our flag on our front porch with appreciation, gratitude, and reverence as I do every year. My husband will grill burgers, I'll prepare a couple of pies, and we'll enjoy a family gathering.

On July 4, 1944, my father, Walter Troyan, celebrated America's birthday, but with no burgers, pies, and family. He also looked at the American flag with appreciation, gratitude, and reverence. Old Glory furlled in the breeze atop his ship. He was a nineteen-year-old sailor, a gunner, on the USS Denver and faced with an impending battle against Japan.

His cruiser arrived at the Marshall Islands at the end of June. The next mission for my father's Task Group 58.1 was to proceed to the vicinity of the Bonin and Volcano Islands and attack Japanese aircraft, shipping, and installations. He listened intently as his captain gave the orders.

"Our mission is to bombard the airfields, dispersal areas, and fixed defenses," Captain Bledsoe announced. "We will render their air facilities and shore establishments as unserviceable. Each ship will get their specific assignments. We're going to give Japan a Fourth of July they'll never forget!"

And that they did.

The task force was on high alert, and preliminary attacks began on July third when a Japanese snoop plane was shot down. Several carriers sent plane strikes against the three Jima islands.

Early on July fourth, the USS Denver turned on her white truck lights during the predawn aircraft operations. The calm waters and remarkable visibility assisted the actions. With binoculars, Captain Bledsoe spotted the enemy airfields as they came into view on top of a long plateau on Iwo Jima. The Japanese planes presented an astonishing sight silhouetted against the sky, parked on the runways, almost nose to tail.

When the command came, my father and the other gunners fired on the Iwo Jima airstrips and other installations at short range. They let loose with their forty-millimeter and five-inch guns in precise syncopation. The Denver gunners also spotted an enemy water tower. They shot it down and witnessed the water flooding like small rivers in all directions.

The attacks by the Navy task force were well executed and precise. The Naval planes and ships communicated in tandem with one another, battling it out as a force not to be reckoned with in the Pacific Theater. Their savvy planning and military flamboyance paid off.

The "cease firing" command came loud and clear by the middle of the afternoon when the entire airfield area and adjacent buildings were in flames. My father knew the Japanese runways and buildings took a crushing beating when he heard the explosions and witnessed several heavy black-oil fires. The dense, black smoke billowed upward like dark giants walking on water. The scene filled his mind.

Later that day, Captain Bledsoe got out his accordion and summoned his crew. "Meet me topside," he said. "Let's do some singing. Happy Fourth of July!" Always the singer, my father joined right in.

Walter Troyan also celebrated two other Fourth of Julys in 1943 and 1945 while on board his ship. No burgers, no pies. No family gatherings. But the indomitable crew of 1,200 men on his ship demonstrated appreciation, gratitude, and reverence for America's birthday like no other, sacrificing so much. The sailors worked as a team for our country, most of them teenagers. Many had dropped out of high school, like my father, to serve America right after Pearl Harbor was attacked. Later they would be called heroes and the Greatest Generation. But at the time, they were just doing their jobs.

When we celebrate our nation's birthday this year, let's enjoy our burgers and pies and family gatherings. We should. We have been blessed with great freedoms. But when we hang our flags, let's remember that freedom is not free. Others paid for every free breath we get to take. Let's remember our military men and women, living and deceased, who have sacrificed so much for America so we can enjoy this special holiday.

GIRLFRIEND WISDOM

Tending to our friendships, is like tending to a garden. When spending more time with our friends, as if they were plants in our garden, we could watch them grow. The attentiveness would show if they were flourishing or needed a little care, like water and sun with our plants. Any weeds popping up to choke off the good flow that leads to beautiful blossoms? As in our friend, do we see any self sabotage or negative self-talk that needs our support? The goal is to share in the special moments in the Sun. Standing tall, beautiful in all their glory! Sunflowers are especially inspirational. No flower can lift someone's spirits quite like a sunflower in late summer. With brilliant yellow petals, also known as "rays", sunflowers have an unmistakable sun-like appearance. They symbolize adoration, loyalty and longevity. Adoration, loyalty and longevity are great qualities for our Girlfriends in the Garden of Life as well.

The Girlfriend Wisdom for all Girlfriends is to Stand Tall, Turn your Faces to the Sun and bask in a brighter, more delightful day!

Joy & Blessings,

Jody

Texas Sheet Cake Bites

2 c. all-purpose flour
2 c. granulated sugar
1 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1 c. butter
3/4 c. water
5 T. unsweetened cocoa powder
1/2 c. buttermilk
2 eggs beaten

Frosting:
1/2 c. butter
1/3 c. buttermilk
5 T. unsweetened cocoa powder
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1# powdered sugar

Preheat oven to 325°. Spray mini muffin pan generously with non-stick cooking spray or line with mini muffin liners.

In a large bowl, whisk together the flour, sugar, baking soda, and salt; set aside.

In a medium saucepan, combine the butter, water, and cocoa powder and heat over medium heat until boiling, stirring often. Pour into the dry mixture and mix just until combined. Gently stir in the buttermilk and beaten eggs. The batter will be quite thin.

Scoop the batter into the prepared mini muffin pan, filling each well about 2/3 full. Bake at 325° for 10-12 min. until a toothpick inserted into the center comes out clean.

Cool the cake bites in the pan for 5 min. then remove and cool completely on a wire cooling rack.

In a medium saucepan, combine the buttermilk, butter, and cocoa. Heat over med. heat until the mixture comes to a boil, whisking often. Remove from the heat and whisk in the vanilla extract and powdered sugar until smooth.

Spoon the frosting over the cake bites and allow a few min. for the frosting to set

Panzanella

1 loaf very crusty Italian bread
2 T. olive oil
1/4 c. olive oil
1 T. red wine vinegar
4 assorted tomatoes, cut into wedges
1 cucumber, halved, seeded and cut into wedges
1/2 red onion, cut into wedges
20-25 fresh basil leaves, cut into chiffonade, plus whole leaves, for serving
Parmesan shavings, for topping
Salt and freshly ground black pepper

For the croutons: Preheat the oven to 275°.

Cut the bread into 1" cubes and arrange on a baking sheet. Drizzle with olive oil and toss to coat. Put the pan in the oven to slightly crisp the bread without toasting it, 20-25 min. Remove and allow to cool.

For the dressing: In a small jar, shake together the olive oil, vinegar, salt and pepper.

For the salad: In a large bowl, combine the tomatoes, cucumbers, onions and bread cubes. Pour the dressing over the salad ingredients, tossing gently. Add the sliced basil and Parmesan shavings and toss again. Sprinkle with more salt and pepper and serve garnished with whole basil leaves.

Baked Zucchini Chips

Zucchini
Olive oil
Kosher salt

*Look for zucchini that is large but not too large. The baseball-bat-sized zucchini you harvest at the end of August is not going to work here!

Preheat oven to 225°. Line two large baking sheets with silicone baking mats or parchment paper. It is recommended to use a mandolin slicer; if yours has thickness settings, set it to 2, otherwise, aim for 1/8". It's very difficult to cut thin, uniform slices of zucchini with a knife. After you slice your zucchini, place the slices on a sheet of paper towels. Place another paper towel on top and press down to absorb any excess liquid.

Oil and season the zucchini. Line the zucchini slices on the prepared baking sheet. Don't overlap them, but they can be very close, as they'll shrink when they bake. Brush the slices with oil, then sprinkle them with salt. Place the baking sheet in the oven and bake the zucchini for 2+ hours, or until they start to brown, feel dry, and seem crisp. Salt chips while still warm.

Let the zucchini chips cool on the baking sheet, then serve.

Old Town Fabric Shop

Welcome to Old Town Fabric Shop! We are located at 56 West Water Street, Chillicothe, Ohio in the heart of the Downtown Historical District.

Old Town Fabric Shop is part of a trio of canal warehouses built along the Ohio Erie Canal in 1852, it today serves as a destination shopping experience. You will observe the original post and beams along with brick construction as you walk the aisles of white oak floors. Antique accessories and award winning restoration house an old fashion type dry goods store with over 3,000 bolts of first quality cottons and designer fabric.

The mother/daughter team of Cindy Henderson and Kelly Battistin bring you all the latest and greatest fabric collections from the traditional (Cindy) quilting genre to the modern styles (Kelly). Kelly is a certified Bernina Service Technician and Old Town Fabric Shop has been awarded the BERNINA Award of Excellence Dealer for their sale and service of these Swiss made sewing machines and accessories. Moda, Andover, Windham/Anthology, Marcus, Hoffman, and Benartex Fabrics are just a few of the first quality independent quilt shop products in stock.

Spectacular Summer Discoveries

by Annice Bradley Rockwell

Sunny summer days that seem to be endless are a gift meant to be cherished. Summertime is a treasured time of year that inspires us to venture out and explore as well as take time to enjoy the blessing of leisure. In the season of summer everything seems to have its own natural splendor and for many, it is embraced as the height of the year.

Whether our summer souls take us on a serendipitous journey to the sandy shore or a visit to the cooler vales of a New England mountain region, we can count on nature to provide us with opportunities to expand. Day trips planned to explore new regions can be rewarding for all of the surprises they can offer. Hiking trails filled with diverse ecosystems to enjoy keep us living in the moment. From the inviting sounds of a babbling brook to a breathtaking glimpse of a mammoth poplar tree that was once the only tree in an early pasture, nature gives us a sense of connectedness. The pursuit of natural beaches and quiet dunes gives us a day of exploration with peace as its reward. And when we come upon "just the perfect spot," we can return again to be recharged by that spectacular summer discovery.

Transformed Retreats - Our own homes and yards can serve as a transformed retreat as well. In summer we are gifted with glorious days where our floral borders seem to proclaim pride as they reach boldly for the sun. Our vegetable gardens now reveal our time well-spent tilling and carefully tending. In summer we now have a chance to sit back and enjoy nature's "fireworks finale" in the form of all of our flowers reaching their very own beautiful full bloom.

This enchanting time is ideal for midsummer gatherings with family and friends. Meals prepared with fresh harvested vegetables and herbs can be paired with a summer punch filled with fruit and topped with frosty sherbet as a refreshing summer surprise. Gatherings can be enhanced as they overflow into the evening by twinkling candlelit corners of our gardens and the ever-inviting glow of a campfire drawing us toward each other to share in the glory of summer.

This summer season take time for adventure. Enjoy the simple, yet majestic joy of discovery. And as you surround yourself with the beauty of nature's gifts, you will no doubt be filled with genuine gratitude and a deepened sense of pure peace.

Cowboy Salad

- 1-2 hearts of romaine lettuce, cut into strips
- 1 (15.25 oz.) can whole kernel corn, rinsed, drained
- 1 (15.25 oz.) can black beans, rinsed and drained
- 2 c. cherry tomatoes, halved
- 1 c. sharp cheddar cheese, shredded
- 1 avocado, diced, sprinkled with lime juice
- 1 red bell pepper, diced
- 1 jalapeño, seeds removed, minced
- 1/2 red onion, diced
- 1/3 c. fresh cilantro, finely chopped

Dressing:

- 1 c. mayonnaise
- 1/2 c. barbecue sauce
- 1/4 c. spicy brown mustard
- 2 T. Worcestershire sauce
- 2 T. lime juice

In a medium bowl, whisk together mayonnaise, barbecue sauce, mustard, Worcestershire sauce and lime juice together until smooth, set aside.

Place romaine strips in a large bowl, then top with corn, beans, tomatoes, cheese, avocado, bell pepper, jalapeño, red onion and cilantro.

Pour on dressing and toss together to combine. Let rest 15-20 min. before serving, giving flavors a chance to blend.

From the Journal of the Country Register Secret Shopper!

Hello Everyone!
I hope you're enjoying your HOT summer!

It was too hot to work out in the garden the other day so I decided to look through my Country Register for a new place to visit.

I hadn't been to Log Cabin Comforts in Englewood yet, so off I went! It's located on the main street in Englewood, so it's very easy to find. There is easy access and plenty of parking in the lot behind the store.

Log Cabin Comforts did not disappoint - from the moment you approach their door there are plenty of treasures to check out. Upon entering the shop I received a very friendly greeting from shop owner Jennifer Neaves. (A nice warm welcome always puts me in the shopping mood!)

Everything is very tastefully displayed throughout the shop which features early primitive antiques and other accents for the home. Lots of handmade originals are offered as well as candles and other lighting. The shop is small but packed with wonderful goodies. I quickly learned from Jennifer that merchandise is changed out frequently and they love to decorate for the seasons, especially fall and Christmas. So, looks like I'll be planning a return trip this fall. I encourage you to put this on your list to check out too.

Shop hours are Wednesday through Saturday 11-5 and Sunday 12-4. They maintain a presence on both Facebook and Instagram and will ship items you might view online.

Stay safe and well everyone. Sending Country Blessings - from your Ohio Country Register Secret Shopper to you.

Editor's Note: Check out Log Cabin Comforts' ad on page 26.

COUNTRY REGISTER QUICK TIP

Ant killer - Mix one part baking soda and one part powdered sugar and pour it into a bottle cap. Set it near the ant mound and wait! Due to the similar grain size of baking soda and powdered sugar, ants cannot tell the difference! The baking soda is toxic to ants and will eradicate your problem rather quickly!

Creamy Tortellini Salad

- 9 oz three cheese tortellini
- 1/2 small yellow onion thinly sliced
- 3/4 c. peas, fresh or frozen peas
- 1 c. chopped asparagus
- 2 lg. garlic cloves, chopped
- 1 c. heavy whipping cream
- 1/2 c. shaved Parmesan cheese
- Salt & freshly cracked black pepper
- 5-6 slices bacon, cooked crisp & chopped

Cook tortellini according to the package instructions, drain and set aside.

Place 2 T. oil in a preheated saute pan over medium heat. Add onions and saute until transparent. Add peas and asparagus. Saute until asparagus starts to soften. Add garlic and season with salt and pepper. Mix well and cook for about 5 more min. Pour in heavy cream while stirring. Add shaved Parmesan cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Add more salt and pepper if needed. Stir in tortellini until completely mixed in and cook for a couple of minutes. Stir bacon in right before taking the pan off heat.

Serve hot or chilled.
